Could You, or Your Company, Be A Target of Illegal Eavesdropping?

Illegal eavesdropping occurs every day in both corporate and personal spaces. Anyone with information that can be used for the financial, professional, political or personal gain of the eavesdropper is a potential target of illegal eavesdropping.

U.S. Companies Lose Hundreds of $ Millions To Foreign & Domestic Illegal Eavesdropping Each Year!

No Industry is Immune to Eavesdropping, But Some Industries Are Preferred Targets!

What Types of Information Has Value To An Eavesdropper?

- Trade Secrets
- Competition Sensitive Information
- Strategic Plans
- Product Development Concepts
- Customer Lists
- Marketing Strategies
- Banking / Credit Card Information
- Medical Information (HIPPA)
- Personal Data
- Politically Sensitive Information
- Damaging Personal Information
- Etc.

How Valuable Is This Information To Your Company?

If you can answer YES to any of the following questions, there is a strong likelihood that you, or your company, are a target of illegal eavesdropping:

Do you have access to information that can be damaging or profitable to another company, organization or individual?

Are you losing business to competitors who do not offer a better product, service, technology or experience?

Have you been underbid on price sensitive contracts for which your company should have been a low-price bidder?

Do competitor(s) seem to have access to otherwise properly guarded proprietary or confidential information?

Do your competitor(s) plans and strategies seem a bit too similar to your own?

Are long time customers now doing business with the competitor for unknown reason(s)?

Have your private conversations been repeated to you by those who were not present during the conversation?

Illegal eavesdropping does not require the expertise of a secret agent! Anyone who has access to the Internet, the local electronics shop and a basic understanding of electronics can illegally eavesdrop on your business and/or personal activities. The devices are small and readily available at minimal cost.
